Leo likes outdoor activities. Backpacking and camping are his favorite things to do. In an interview with Starlight Outdoor Magazine this month, he offered some easy tips for new backpackers.

Q1 : _____

Leo: Backpacking and camping are my hobbies. It can be a little difficult sometimes, but I just love getting away from it all.

Q2 : _____

Leo: There are two most important things to know: how to dress comfortably and how to pack your equipment well.

Q3 : _____

Leo: They need to understand what kind of outdoor clothes they need. People need clothes to keep themselves dry in the rain, block the wind, and warm in the cold.

Q4 : _____

Leo: Access and balance are the two keys to packing well. First, access: don't bury things you need—such as extra cloths, food, or water—at the bottom of your backpack. Second, balance: Don't make your backpack too heavy at the top of bottom because you are going to wear it. It's best to keep the heaviest items close to your back.

Q5 : _____

Leo: Yes. Have fun! That's the only reason to do it!

- ① What do all beginners need to know?
- ② Any final words to the readers?
- ③ How should people dress for backpacking?
- ④ Why do you spend so much time in the wilderness?
- ⑤ How should people pack for a trip?

LisaLee: Well... it sounds too good to be true, but the pictures on their website really look good. I think I'll wait and see what people share about it.

Nicky: I just came back from there. My kids were too tired to walk and are in bed now. We had a blast today! There are too many things to play with, to try, and to see, and one day is NOT enough at all! We'll surely go back soon!

Lily: We went there last Sunday, and we had to wait in line to get on or get in almost everything. However, the mini-theater and the museum were quite nice. We watched a 3D show about animals. When the boys were running around outside, I spent some quiet time reading interesting storybooks to my baby girl in the library. It was a great bonus to me—a place to rest.

Jack216: I went there with my kids on the opening day, and we paid NT$500 to get in. There were lots of people on that day. Luckily, I have a fifteen-year-old boy and a fourteen-year-old girl, and they could help look after their brothers. So, I could rest with my 2-year-old girl in the library. Kids are already asking me to take them there again!

Beitang Fish Harbor was still a small fishing village in which about 3,100 people lived 40 years ago. When visitors found the fish at Beitang Fish Harbor were much cheaper and fresher, it became one of their favorite places on holidays. More and more people liked either getting some fish back or eating at Beitang. More people mean more chances to make money. Businessmen started to move into Beitang since 1986. The population (all the people living in Beitang) grew every year, and it was 4,200 at the end of 2001. Restaurants and shops were always filled with visitors on holidays.

In 2003, some villagers found parking got easier on holidays than before. Then, the business got worse and worse year by year. Villagers started to move out of Beitang in 2006. At the end of 2020, there were less than 3,000 people living in Beitang. Interestingly, more and more people liked going to another small harbor, Hotang, which was near Beitang, on holidays. Steve and several owners of the restaurants in Beitang decided to go there to find the facts.

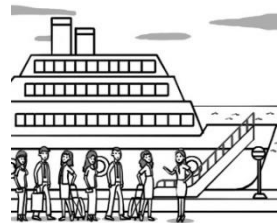

They had a talk with the visitors in Hotang if they had chances. The visitors told Steve and his friends the fishes in Hotang were cheaper and the dishes were more delicious. Besides, one more thing caught Steve's eye. There were always some people looking around and picking up trash. It did surprise Steve and his friends. "Actions have to be taken for Beitang," they said.

	Hi, everyone, I'm writing to you in the oldest ryokan in Tokyo. We arrived here around 7 p.m. yesterday. This ryokan is amazing. The open-air hot spring outside our room is the best part of staying here. We enjoyed the hot spring last night. The water of the hot spring doesn't look very clear, and it smells like bad eggs, but we liked it. We felt so warm and comfortable to be in the hot spring. This morning, we had the most traditional Japanese breakfast. Everything tasted so great, so we ate a lot. October is really the best month of the year to enjoy the autumn leaves in Tokyo. All the leaves are golden, orange, or red. It's so beautiful everywhere! We are already planning to pay a visit to Tokyo again next year! Miss you. Emilie and Nickie
